Digital Concrete 2020

Digital fabrication is taking the concrete construction industry by storm. In recognition of the potential in terms of reduced labor and material use, increased geometrical freedom and related cost and emission reductions, a swiftly expanding group of academics and practitioners from around the globe is researching and developing the associated technologies, materials, and applications.

Digital Concrete is the primary platform for key innovators and top researchers to exchange insights and discuss findings in this fascinating field. The 2020 edition will present a proceedings of over 110 papers, as well as 6 keynote and 10 invited lectures of top experts in the field. Digital Concrete is an initiative of the RILEM Technical Committee 276. This 2nd conference is organized by the 3D Concrete Printing research group of the TU Eindhoven.

Online Conference and On-location Workshop

Digital Concrete 2020 is a full online conference. In addition, a multi-day workshop on location called Digital Concrete 2020 (re)visited will be organized in 2021. Visit www.digitalconcrete2020.com for more information, or contact us at digitalconcrete2020@tue.nl.
